As COVID restrictions come to an end - a new look 'Hybrid Service' is coming into being!

In March last year New Hope closed its doors on 'in person' counselling and began to offer counselling remotely instead.

Our counselling team completed a training course to make sure they were working competently and ethically. Remote counselling proved popular with certain groups of clients especially those who were shielding, disabled, those who care for children and the elderly and those with transport issues.

The exciting news is that we are now launching a hybrid service where counselling can be accessed in three ways:

1. face to face 2. Via zoom 3. By telephone.
